Every business runs on invisible magic —
the kind created by staff who turn pressure into performance, and plans into reality.

“The magician and the entrepreneur have one thing in common: they create something from nothing”

An aerial, high-angle view of a bustling trade show floor. The scene is filled with people walking through aisles lined with various booths and displays. Some booths feature large digital screens and interactive elements. The lighting is bright, and the overall atmosphere is one of a busy, professional event. The word "SHOWS" is overlaid in large, gold, glittery letters across the middle of the image.

SHOWS

Three Packages that attract customers to your stand

Attract people to your stand and convert them into clients with bespoke magic that wins attention and creates a positive, lasting impression.

Magic That Draws Crowds And Wins Customers!

At trade shows, you want people to stop and pay attention. Chris can help. He knows how to draw a crowd and get people interested in what you're selling. As an experienced trade show magician, he uses visual, high-impact, engaging magic to make sure people notice and remember you rather than your competitors.

Chris will work closely with your marketing team to weave your key sales messages into short, memorable, magical moments that make your stand the one people talk about. He can also pre-qualify visitors to your stand before handing them over to your sales staff. Quite simply, trade shows work better with magic!

The result? More eyes, more buzz, and more of the right leads — without adding pressure to your team.

TRADE S

When I started my entertainment company for the luxury yacht industry, the first performer I hired was Chris. Time and again, he amazed highly discerning audiences and helped to build our very positive reputation. Chris is impressively versatile — equally able to entertain people at trade shows or aboard yachts in exotic locations. He is simply excellent at what he does.”

ABOUT YOUR
MASTER OF MAGICAL CEREMONIES

Chris Dodd

In the mid-nineties, a young boy was sitting transfixed by what he saw on the large, box-style television. He was watching a magician who instructed him to touch the screen. He did so.

A look of wonder came upon his face as the magician reached up to him and touched his finger from the world of television.

He had been fascinated by magic ever since his grandfather showed him a trick one Christmas Eve, and that fascination continues through to today.

Chris has performed around the world for over twenty years and he is highly experienced in entertaining at corporate and private events both large and small. At each one, he ensures the guests leave sharing the sense of wonder that he felt all those years ago.

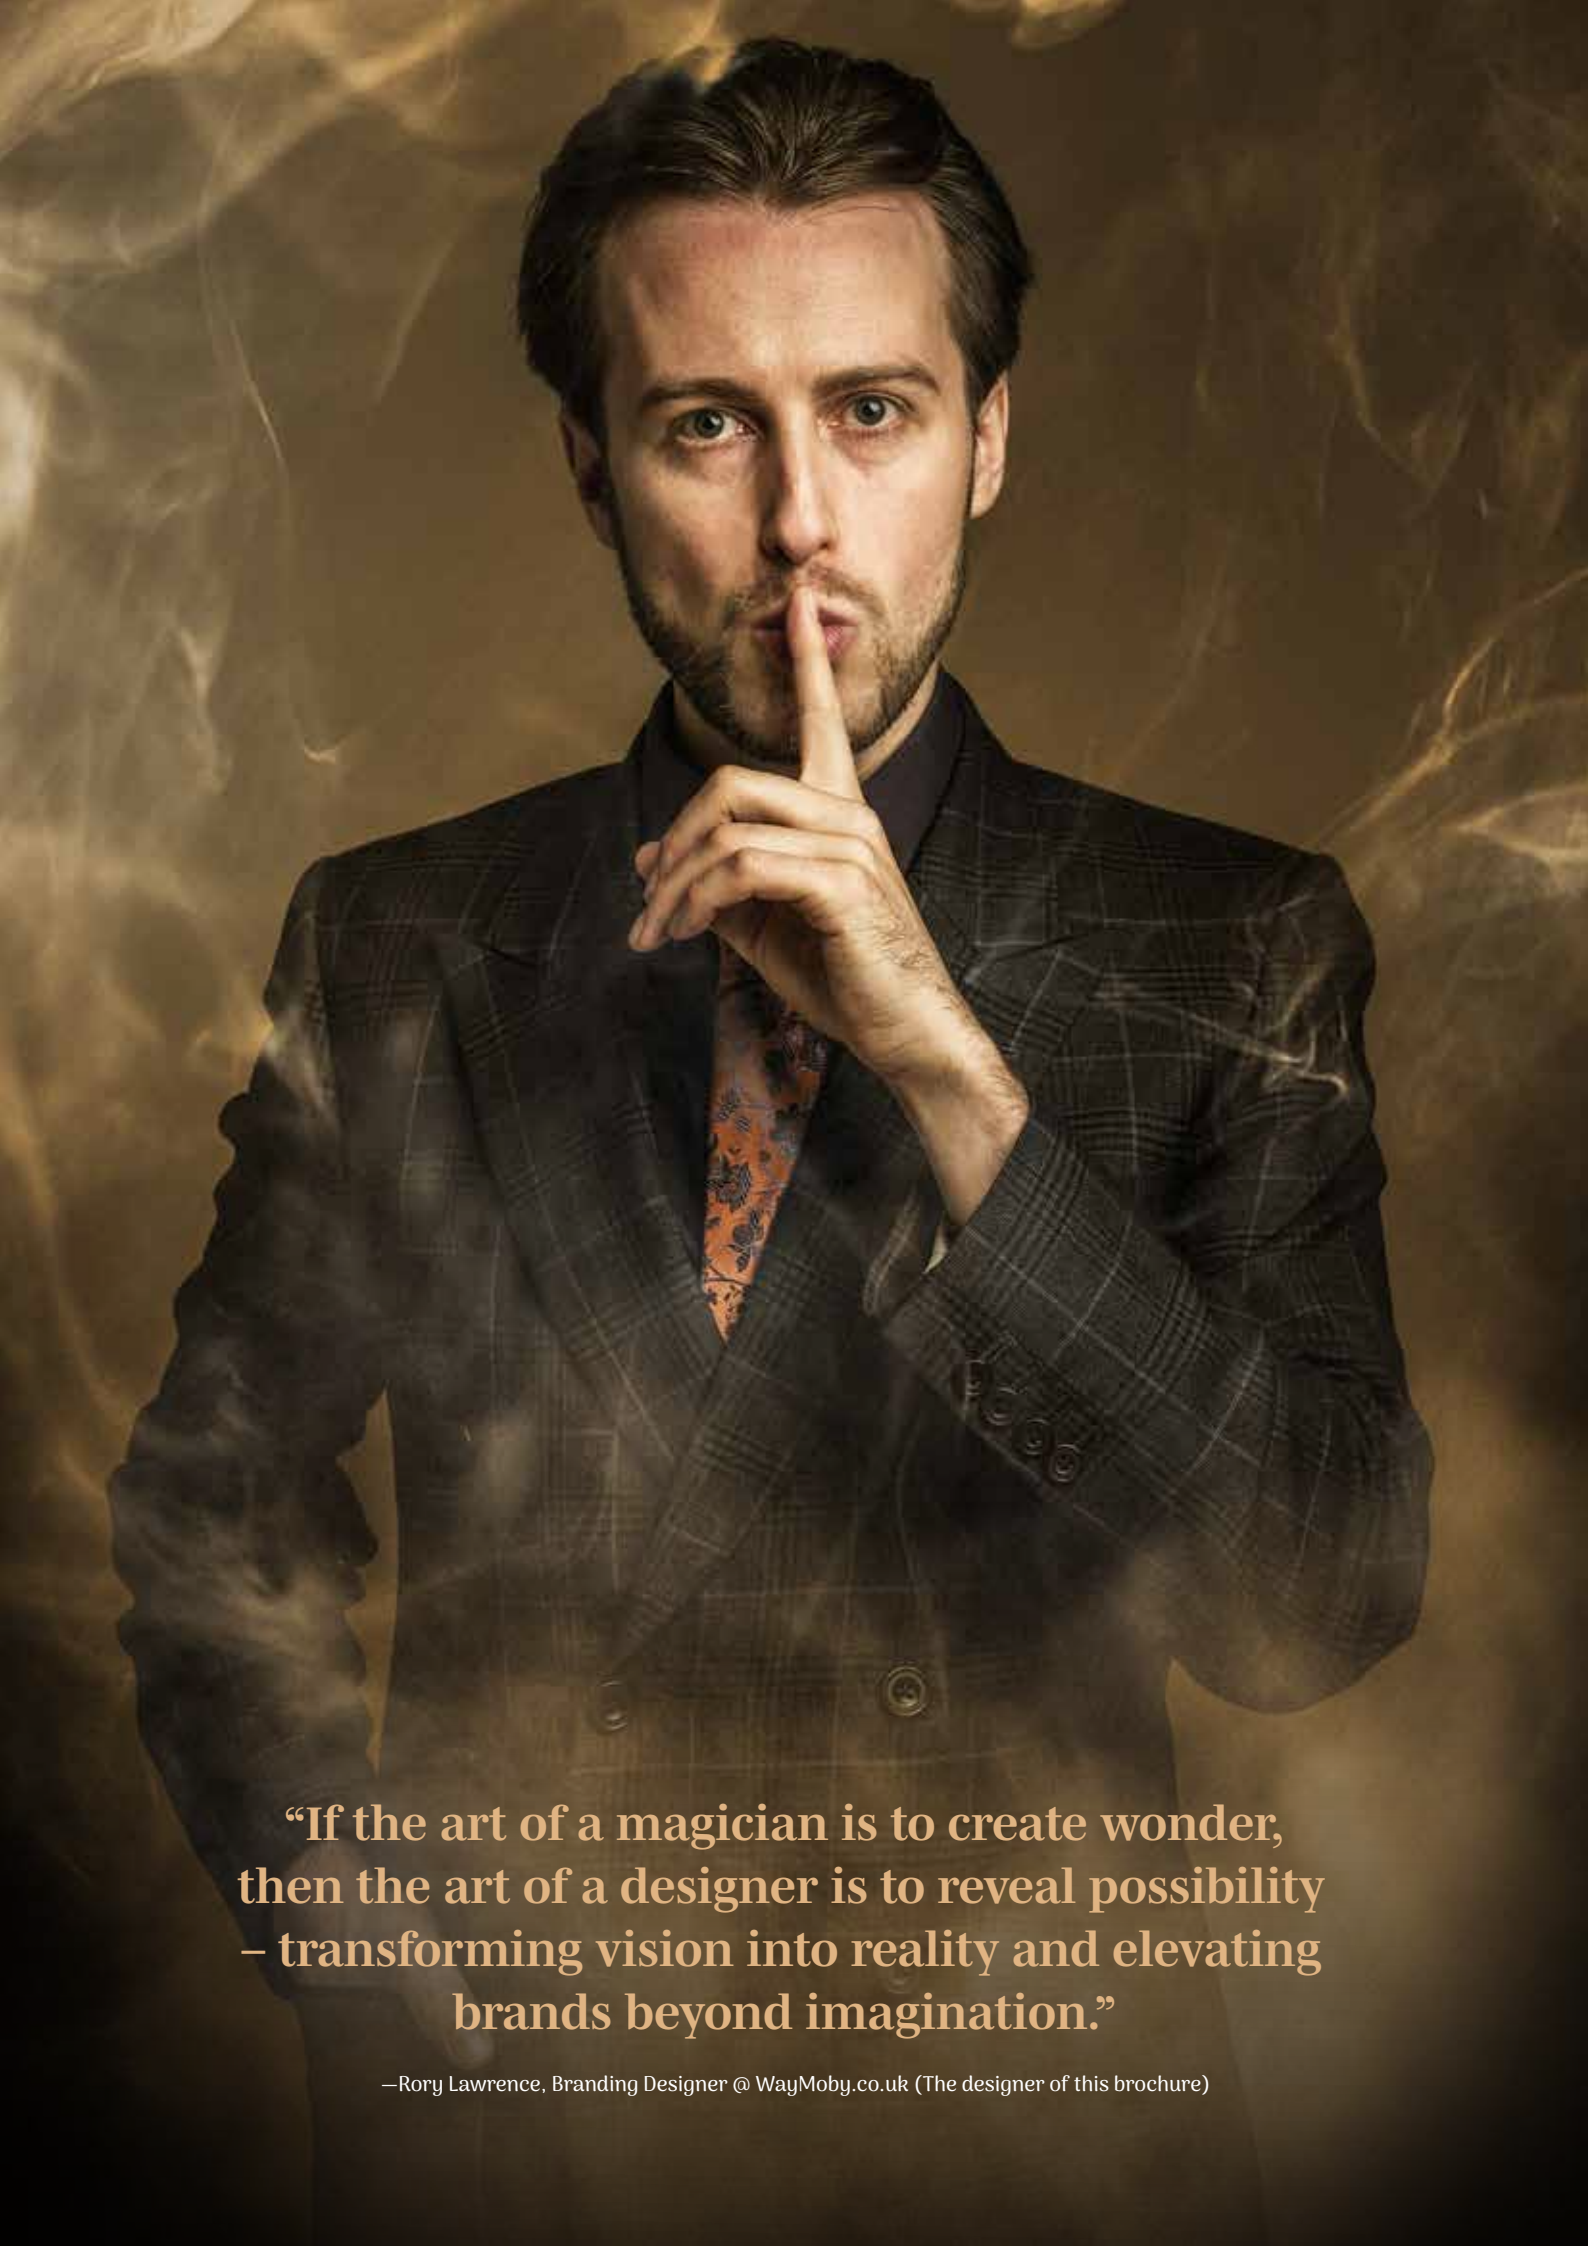

Business success often derives from an almost obsessive attention to fine details that others overlook. So to is:

“Magic is the outcome of countless hours of work hidden behind what appears effortless.”

– Chris Dodd

“If the art of a magician is to create wonder,
then the art of a designer is to reveal possibility – transforming vision into reality and elevating brands beyond imagination.”

–Rory Lawrence, Branding Designer @ WayMoby.co.uk (The designer of this brochure)
